Could EDWARD Lowe be the father of Thomas (Jr)? The only Lowe in Casey County, Kentucky in 1790 was Edward. One researcher (Jerry Gibson) believes THOMAS SR. and Mary (Holman?) of Virginia were the parents of the younger Thomas. This Thomas Sr. and Mary were married March 20, 1783. He died in Rockingham, Lincoln County in 1835. IS THERE A ROCKINGHAM, KY?) This Thomas' wife was Mary Holman (?) who died May 13, 1839 in Rockingham.

A THOMAS Lowe found in Virginia Tax Payers list 1782-1787 in Henry County (p 78)
Another researcher states Thomas' father was ISAAC Lowe (not proven). I have used this data (from Glen Newman) and will try to prove it.

A WILLIAM Lowe was in the North Carolina militia and received a Revolutionary Pension March 27, 1833, age 79, of $26.66. (i.e., Born 1754) Could this be an ancestor? (Source "Pensioners Under the Act of June 7, 1832 (Began March 4, 1831))

State of Kentucky, Warren County

On this 24th day of July 1832 personally appeared in open Court before the Justices of the County Court of Warren County now sitting, William Lowe a resident Citizen of the adjoining County of Simpson and State aforesaid aged Seventy seven years on the 17th day of February 1833 – who being first duly sworn according to law doth on his oath make the following declaration in order to obtain the benefit of the act of Congress passed June 7th 1832 – That he entered the service of the United States under the following named officers & served as herein stated.

1St – That he volunteered into the service of the Army of the Revolution from the County of Surry & State of North Carolina sometime in the summer (he thinks) of 1775 under the command of Captain Joseph Philips. He joined the Army for the purpose of quelling certain Scotch Tories who had risen near the “sand hills” in North Carolina under the command of a Colonel McCloud he thinks – There was a Captain Jarvis marched in company with him. He was under no general officer. He belonged to the Regiment of Colonel Dye – as well as he remembers his name. He marched from Surry County to Cross Creek on Cape Fear River. We encamped here for eight or 10 days, till we heard that McCloud had been defeated by an officer named Caswell – as well as he remembers – we were then marched back & discharged. He was only out about six weeks and got no discharge. There was a Captain Good out with him.

2nd – He volunteered again into the service from the same County & State in the latter end of the summer or beginning of the fall of 1776 on a three months tour under the command of Captain William Dobson-- Major Joseph Winston, & Colonel Joseph Williams. There were three other captains along – Captain Good, Mosby, & Cobb, there was a Captain Shepherd, Captain of horse, along also. We marched into the State of Virginia & joined Colonel Christie [sic, William Christian] at the Long Island of Holston [River] – Colonel Christie then took command of the whole – marched thence to a place on Tennessee River called the “Over Hill” Towns. We were scattered about through the Country here a while and burnt many of Indian towns – And then returned home in the winter. We were out on this tour thirteen weeks. He did not receive a discharge.

3Rd – He again volunteered from the same County & State under the command of Captain Minor Smith-- his lieutenant was named Varnil [sic, Richard Vernon] – Major Winston [Joseph Winston] & Colonel Benjamin Cleveland. There was a Captain Guess [Moses Guess or Guest] along. The forces rendezvoused at Bethany or Bethlehem, a Moravian town in Surry County – and marched towards the Cowpens and on our route joined the Virginia militia under Colonel Campbell [William Campbell] at the Cowpens we joined Colonel Williams' [James Williams'] Regiment from South Carolina. He started from the Cowpens under the command of Campbell, about sunset marched the whole night and crossed Broad River at the Cherokee Ford about day light – thence on to King's Mountain. Surrounded Colonel Fergurson [Patrick Ferguson] & killed & took his whole Army. In this engagement Captain Smith was shot through the head but recovered. His Lieutenant Varnil was wounded & died of his wound a day or two afterwards. He spent a day or two here – and then marched back towards the Moravian towns with the prisoners. He did not continue with the Army but went as a nurse with William Hana [sic, Hanna or Hannah?] as a nurse who was severely wounded in the battle, to a doctor and remained with said Hannah till he died. He then returned to Surry County and Captain Smith, not having yet recovered, he marched under a Captain Joel Lewis against some Tories at the head of John's River we followed them to the head of the Watauga River now in the State of Tennessee. Here we overtook them – fired on them, killed one & wounded another – they fled & hid themselves in an adjoining swamp. And we then returned over on John's River again – thence home. There was a Major White in company with us after these tours, but I believe he had no command. He got no discharge. He was out on this tour a little upwards of three months.

4th He again volunteered from the same County & State under Captain William Bostick, he joined a Regiment commanded by Col. Pickens [Andrew Pickens], a refugee from South Carolina – marched down on Haw River near Trolener's [sic, Trollinger's or Trolinger's] Ford-- and was there waiting to strengthen Green [sic, Nathanael Greene] when he required his services. The British under Lord Cornwallis was then in Hillsborough – While he was yet stationed near Trollinger's Ford the British evacuated Hillsboro & marched on towards Guilford. As they were passing on near where your applicant was stationed in a small skirmish of spies Major M. Lewis was shot through the thighs and died of his wounds. We were beaten back that night from two encampments & were compelled to make a third without fire. The next morning being confined with rheumatism he was compelled to leave the Army. He was engaged on this tour about three weeks. He was not discharged. This was in the winter of 1781, just before the battle of Guilford. He cannot remember precisely the date of his joining & leaving the service. By reference to the fixed dates he has alluded to, he hopes his statement on that subject will be found sufficiently certain. After the war he resided in Surry County six or seven years then moved to South Carolina on Saluda River where he lived 11 years, then to Kentucky where he now lives. He has his birth recorded in his family register, now at home. He can prove a portion of his service by a Mr. Clark but who he has been unable to get to the Court House owing to his advanced age. He forwards to the certificates of Joseph Smith & Zachariah Morris a minister of the gospel. He hereby relinquishes all claim to a pension or annuity except the present and declares that his name is not on the pension roll of the agency of any State.

Sworn to and subscribed the day and year aforesaid.

S/ William Lowe

[one or more pages of missing text]... the precise length of his service, but according to the best of his recollection he served not less than the periods mentioned below and in the following grades: for 34 weeks or eight months & two weeks I served as a private and for such service I claim a pension. He begs leave to present also pursuant to the direction of the war Department the Certificate of Micajah Clark.

S/ William Lowe

From the History of Vigo and Parke Counties, together with Historic Notes on the Wabash Valley, by H. W. Beckwith. Chicago: H. H. Hill and N. Iddings, Publishers, 1880, pages 403 to 410.

Riley township is situated on the eastern side of the county, its boundaries being Lost Creek township on the north, Clay county on the east, Pierson township on the south, and Honey Creek township on the west. It contains thirty-six sections of magnificent land, fenced off into large and carefully cultivated farms, and is thickly dotted with handsome residences and commodious farm buildings, while numerous droves of cattle, sheep and hogs roam in rich pastures, the whole forming a picture of taste and wealth unexcelled in the county. The township is well watered by the stream known as Little Honey creek, and its tributaries which flow in a southwesterly direction through it; it consists of equal portions of timber and prairie land, though little is now left of the former but small groves, which have been retained for fencing and firewood.

The earliest settlers located in the timber and upon the highest land, avoiding the prairie on account of its marshy nature and consequent unhealthiness, in fact at that time it was not considered possible that it ever could be settled upon as farming land. The only way in which it could be utilized in their mind was as pasture land. The first settlement within the boundaries of this township were made near the southern line in 1818, when Samuel John and William Ray arrived with their families, being accompanied by John Pierce, Caleb Trueblood, and William Harris. At this time the Indians were still in possession of the country. On arriving here the Ray family erected a kind of stockade to guard against the surprise by their aboriginal neighbors until they got their cabin erected, and slept with their rifles at the head of their beds. On one occasion Grandfather Ray got up in night to look after the horses which were making some noise, and on returning stumbled, and woke his son, William, who, thinking that the Indians were entering the camp, jumped out of bed, seized his rifle and demanded who was there. The old gentleman being somewhat flurried with his fall did not make immediate reply, and William was in the act of pressing the trigger, when the thought flashed upon him that it might be his father or brothers; so he hailed again, when to his horror he found that he had been within an ace of killing his father. The Indians, however, did them no harm beyond frightening them, yet all were well pleased when they moved away, the women folks particularly being glad of the exodus, as they lived in dread of some of the children being carried off, two little boys having been kidnapped from the Prairieton neighborhood sometime before [family tradition says one of these little boys was my ggg grandfather, James G. Strain who was recovered without harm].

Soon after 1818 Deacon Jackson and family arrived, accompanied by his son John and his family. The next to settle were Samuel and James Thompson, who arrived in 1822, and were shortly followed by Thomas Green, Isaac Pierce, John Harkness and Ferrill. At a later period arrived the members of the settlement east of where Lockport now stands, among whom were David S. and Nathaniel Lee, John Reece, George Armstrong, Davis Toby, Reason T. Mattox, David Holston, and George and William Brill.

The settlers in the northern division began to immigrate about 1830, among the earliest being John Rector Stephen Hawley, John McGriff, Thomas and Benjamin McWhinney, Joshua and Elisha Wyeth, Martin Bratt and Phillips, the majority of them hailing from Ohio and eastern Indiana. The first deaths which occurred in the township were those of John Ray (uncle to Mr. John Ray, at present residing here) and his son Elias. They had gone to a neighbor's two or three miles off to grind their axes and grubbing-hoes. The day being cloudy and threatening storm, they did not notice that it was so late until darkness settled upon them before they had got far on their way home. The storm of snow and sleet which had been hovering around all day broke at last, and the driving snow blinded them so that they lost their way and wandered aimlessly around until exhausted, when the terrible cold finished the work. Next day they were discovered frozen to death by their sorrowing relatives and friends. We are unable to give the date of the occurrence, as our informant, Mr. Ray, was very young at the time it took place. It was, however, shortly after their arrival here.

Many were the vicissitudes, dangers and privations experienced by those pioneers, often without bread, in fact biscuit or flour bread was rarely seen, while coffee and tea were the rarest luxuries, only indulged in on great occasions, and were articles to dream and talk about. Owing to the distance to mill, and the lack of roads, even cornmeal was a rarity, the greater portion of the time their bread was made from corn which had been pounded in a mortar. The great difficulty was in getting sieves; the best substitute they had being a piece of deer skin, with the hair off, stretched upon a hoop, and punched full of little holes with a hot wire. The finer particles which passed through this were used for baking purposes, while the larger were boiled and eaten like rice. After a year or two they obtained a small grinder which was operated by hand. This was an improvement on the mortar, but at the best was a slow process. The most of the settlers here being religious men, would not grind on Sunday, so Saturday used to be a day of hard work, and the little grinder was kept in constant operation from "early morn to dewy eve" to get enough meal to last till Monday. At that time the nearest mill was twenty-five miles off, and no roads but bridle paths to reach them. The nearest trading point was Terre Haute, at that time in its infancy, and giving no promise that it would ever attain to its present greatness, only consisting of a few log cabins and a log gaol.

The first children born in the township were John Pierce, William McCaw and William Ray, while the first weddings were those of Richard Brock to Ann Maynard, and Felix Evans to Elizabeth Perkins, which occurred about 1822, the ceremony being performed by William, father of Mr. John Ray, who was the first justice of the peace in the township.

Part III (Conclusion)

Charles H. Daniels, identified by Col. Richard W. Thompson as one of 32 Vigo County men who voted for President William Henry Harrison and intended to vote for his grandson Benjamin Harrison in 1892, settled on a Lost Creek Township farm in 1866.

Born Nov. 15, 1813, in Salem County, N.H., Daniels claimed he introduced the threshing machine to Indiana. As salesman for a Dayton implement company in 1833, he exhibited the Endless Chain one-horse thresher to farmers in Union County.

Jesse Lee, who resided at 643 Swan St. in 1892, settled in Terre Haute on Aug. 7, 1832. For most of his working life, he was a merchant tailor. Son Alonzo was a conductor for the Vandalia Lines. He was born in Virginia on Nov. 18, 1813.

A native of Vermont, where he was born March 25, 1814, William H. Chadwick settled in Vigo County with his parents in 1836. For many years, Chadwick manufactured sewing machines. In 1892, he still was an active mechanic, residing at 435 N. Ninth St.

Born in Bruceville, Ind. on Sept. 6, 1814, William W. Goodman moved with his parents to Sugar Creek Township when he was 5 years old and became a gentleman farmer. On Dec. 29, 1849, Goodman and 11 others, including his brother John, founded the West Vigo Congregational Society. The parish dedicated West Vigo Church in 1853.

Goodman represented Vigo County in the Indiana Legislature between 1850 and 1853. On May 12, 1873, he was ordained and, when his health allowed, was still called upon to present sermons in 1892.

John Burbage McCalla was born in Nicholas County, Ky., on March 4, 1815. After living in Aberdeen, Ohio, for four decades, McCalla came to Vigo County in 1865 where he was a carpenter. McCalla was still active in 1892, residing at 314 N. 13th St.

Perhaps the most prominent man identified by Col. Thompson in his report, James Hook was born in Waynesburg, Pa., on July 8, 1815.

A contractor, Hook was selected one of the initial Terre Haute public school trustees in 1853 and built a school at Fourth and Mulberry streets in 1857 at his own expense. Later he was honored by having a public school named for him.

In 1855, Hook was elected mayor of Terre Haute and served one term. During the Civil War, he co-founded a relief association for the benefits of soldiers' families. During his final years, he resided with his wife, Vienna, at 112 N. 17th St.

Arriving in Terre Haute in time to cast his vote for Gen. Harrison in 1836, E. Warren Chadwick eventually became a prominent liveryman after buying small stables on Cherry Street, between Second and Third streets, from Charles Ruggles in 1851.

Born in Licking County, Ohio, in 1815, Chadwick expanded his business several times. In 1892, he was residing at 323 Ohio St., next to the site of his last stable, considered a Terre Haute landmark when it was razed in 1906.

A member of the 16th Indiana in the Civil War, William Lowe was wounded during the battle of Richmond. He was born in Casey County, Ky., on Aug. 15, 1815.

When Lowe and his older brother Ezra came to Vigo County in 1834, they purchased contiguous farms in Riley Township. After the war, William established a small farm in Section 9 of Lost Creek Township, where he resided in 1892 with his son George.

Born Aug. 27, 1815, in Butler County, Ohio, William Wright Bradbury lived in Ohio and Michigan before moving to Riley Township in 1846. Bradbury outlived four wives. Retired from farming in 1892, he operated a fruit stand at Fifth and Wabash.

William Latta was born in Owen County, Ind., on Oct. 10, 1815. Five years later, he came to Harrison Township with his widowed mother. Later, he located in Section 3 of Riley Township and, over the years, expanded his farming interests.

A native of Martin County, Ind., William Perry Witcher was born Nov. 16, 1815. As an infant, he moved with his parents to Clark County, Ill.

Though he lived in the Wabash Valley for the rest of his life, Witcher did not become a full-time county resident until 1880, when he settled in West Terre Haute.

David Houston moved from Wayne County, Ind. -- where he was born on April 26, 1816 -- to Riley Township in 1832 and became that community's leading wagonmaker.

Thomas Lowe Descendants

A native of Spencer County, Ky., where he was born July 23, 1816, Thomas B. Carr moved to Vigo County with his parents on Oct. 29, 1824. Carr lived elsewhere for several years as an adult but settled in Prairieton in 1845. He moved to Terre Haute on March 4, 1854, accepting employment as a clerk in Francis Hulman's grocery.

In later years, Carr worked for Bernard Koopman (boot and shoe business), Leopold Goodman (merchant tailor and clothier) and Max Joseph (clothier). In 1892, he was living in retirement at 406 S. Second St. with his son, Charles, a Wabash River steamboat pilot.

Col. Thompson, the man who initiated the search for Vigo County men who voted for William H. Harrison in 1836 and announced their intention to vote for his grandson 56 years later, was among the most venerated men Terre Haute has produced.

Born June 9, 1809, in Culpeper County, Va., Thompson settled in Lawrence County, Ind., in 1831, where he taught school, was admitted to the bar and was elected to the Indiana House and Senate and, then, to Congress. He came to Terre Haute in 1843.

During his long residency in Vigo County, Thompson was Circuit Court judge, provost marshal of western Indiana military district during the Civil War, secretary of Navy under President Rutherford Hayes and chairman of the American committee of the Panama Canal Co. He served in both Indiana houses and was elected to another congressional term in 1847.

During Thompson's life, he had contact with 16 presidents and wrote several books. He was president of the board of trustees at Indiana State Normal School and active on the boards at Rose Polytechnic Institute and the Rose Orphan Home.

A bust of Thompson is on the grounds of the Vigo County Courthouse.

Historical Perspective

Old Vigo County settlers voted for pair of Harrison boys for president in 1800s

Mike McCormick/Special to the Tribune-Star

October 5, 2003

As the 1892 presidential election approached, Col. Richard W. Thompson - perhaps the most venerated man in Vigo County history - polled the community to find those who had cast votes for William Henry Harrison in the 1836 and 1840 elections. Thompson was a strong supporter of Republican candidate Benjamin Harrison of Indiana, grandson of the founder of Fort Harrison. His survey revealed that all 31 men interviewed intended to cast his vote in 1892 for former President Harrison's descendant.

Thompson's report, published in October 1892, identified the oldest as 102-year old John Dawson and the youngest as 76-year old Thomas B. Carr.

Besides Col. Thompson, the roll also included Harry Ross, Henry Smith, James Murphy, Samuel H. Potter, Jonas Seeley, A. Harvey Genung, David S. Danaldson, John Surns, Solomon Franklin, Henry Jameson, Thomas E.F. Barnes, Harmon Blood, Eldridge J. Asbury, John W. Smith, Peter Crim, William Peppers, Asa R. Sommers, Charles H. Daniels, Jesse Lee, William H. Chadwick, William W. Goodman, John B. McCalla, James Hook, E. Warren Chadwick, WILLIAM LOWE, William W. Bradbury, WILLIAM LATTA, William P. Witcher and David Holston.

Born Nov. 15, 1789, Dawson was born raised in Stafford County, Va. He was 10 years old when he attended the funeral of George Washington in December 1799.

In 1805, Dawson relocated with his father to Nelson County, Ky., and, three years later, married Sarah Robinson, the mother of his two oldest children. Sarah died in late 1812 and, on March 3, 1813, he enlisted in the Seventh Kentucky Volunteers during the War of 1812. Dawson served under Gen. Harrison during his Canadian campaign.

After the war, Dawson settled in Newport, Ky., and married Lucretia Bridwell, a cousin of President Washington. The couple raised 15 children but only four -- Martha Douglass of Terre Haute, Hilton Dawson and Eliza Douglass of Sullivan County, and Frank Dawson of Indianapolis -- were living in 1892.

Dawson moved from Kentucky to Lawrence County, Ind., in 1817, where he taught school. He also taught in Orange County, Ind. He came to Terre Haute in 1876 to reside in retirement with daughter Martha at 1715 S. Second St.

Though Dawson, who cast his first presidential vote for James Madison in 1812, was quite frail on October 1892, he still was taking daily walks with the aid of a cane.

A native of Saratoga County, N.Y., Ross was born March 2, 1801. He came to Crawford County, Ill., in 1820, and moved to Terre Haute with his two brothers, Russell and James, four years later. The Ross brothers founded the community's first brick manufacturing firm on the river.

Soon after Russell Ross died in 1841, Harry and James abandoned the brick business and founded a dry-goods store on the public square. Harry retired during the Civil War but remained active, serving several terms on the city council.

In his later years the community affectionately referred to Ross as "Uncle Harry."

Born in North Carolina on Feb. 3, 1803, Smith came to present Sugar Creek Township before Vigo County was created. For many years he maintained a 320-acre farm near one developed by his father, adjoining St. Mary-of-the-Woods, in 1814.

Besides farming, Smith made and sold leather goods, including venison saddles and boots. Henry's 93-year old sister Betsy Hearn also resided in Terre Haute in 1892.

A native of Johnstown, Pa., Murphy was born March 1, 1806. Before locating in Terre Haute in 1876, he resided in Indianapolis, Greencastle and Mansfield. During his youth, Murphy transported pork down the Mississippi River to New Orleans by flatboat.

The father of 12 children by two marriages, Murphy resided at 424 N. Fourth St. with his son Charles, who operated a grocery at 1206 S. Fourth St. Seven of Murphy's nine surviving children were domiciled in Indiana.

Jonas Seeley (sic), for whom the town of Seelyville is named, was born in Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, in February 1807, and first came to Terre Haute in 1819.

During the War of 1812, his father's brother joined the U.S. cause. As a result, the Seeleys were deemed traitors and the family's Canadian land was confiscated.

Before acquiring Wood's Mills, a couple of miles east of Terre Haute near the National Road, Seeley lived at Fourth and Eagle streets. The community surrounding Wood's Mill was originally called "Seeleysville."

During the Civil War, Seeley was a captain in the Fourth Indiana Cavalry. He sold the mill in about 1875 and lived in Terre Haute for awhile before joining his son, Thomas, in Newport. In 1890, he began spending winters in Tampa, Fla.

A native of Morris County, N.J., where he was born June 21, 1808, Genung settled on a farm north of Terre Haute in 1828. Five years later, he married Mary Ming and the couple raised five children. All three sons served in the Civil War.

Potter, a native of Oswego County, N.Y., became a prominent Vigo County citizen. Born Nov. 11, 1808, he disliked farming so, at age 22, he opened a hardware store in Utica, N.Y. After three years, he co-founded Potter & Clark, a hardware shop in Cleveland.

On May 1, 1844, Potter established the first exclusive hardware store in Terre Haute. He retired in September 1865 and sold the business to Simeon Cory and Constantin Mancourt. In his later years, "Captain Potter" resided at 823 S. Sixth St.

A native of Vermont, where he was born March 25, 1814, William H. Chadwick settled in Vigo County with his parents in 1836. For many years, Chadwick manufactured sewing machines. In 1892, he still was an active mechanic, residing at 435 N. Ninth St.

Born in Bruceville, Ind. on Sept. 6, 1814, William W. Goodman moved with his parents to Sugar Creek Township when he was 5 years old and became a gentleman farmer. On Dec. 29, 1849, Goodman and 11 others, including his brother John, founded the West Vigo Congregational Society. The parish dedicated West Vigo Church in 1853.

Goodman represented Vigo County in the Indiana Legislature between 1850 and 1853. On May 12, 1873, he was ordained and, when his health allowed, was still called upon to present sermons in 1892.

John Burbage McCalla was born in Nicholas County, Ky., on March 4, 1815. After living in Aberdeen, Ohio, for four decades, McCalla came to Vigo County in 1865 where he was a carpenter. McCalla was still active in 1892, residing at 314 N. 13th St.

Perhaps the most prominent man identified by Col. Thompson in his report, James Hook was born in Waynesburg, Pa., on July 8, 1815.

A contractor, Hook was selected one of the initial Terre Haute public school trustees in 1853 and built a school at Fourth and Mulberry streets in 1857 at his own expense. Later he was honored by having a public school named for him.

In 1855, Hook was elected mayor of Terre Haute and served one term. During the Civil War, he co-founded a relief association for the benefits of soldiers' families. During his final years, he resided with his wife, Vienna, at 112 N. 17th St.

Arriving in Terre Haute in time to cast his vote for Gen. Harrison in 1836, E. Warren Chadwick eventually became a prominent liveryman after buying small stables on Cherry Street, between Second and Third streets, from Charles Ruggles in 1851.

Born in Licking County, Ohio, in 1815, Chadwick expanded his business several times. In 1892, he was residing at 323 Ohio St., next to the site of his last stable, considered a Terre Haute landmark when it was razed in 1906.

A member of the 16th Indiana in the Civil War, WILLIAM LOWE was wounded during the battle of Richmond. He was born in Casey County, Ky., on Aug. 15, 1815.

When Lowe and his older brother Ezra came to Vigo County in 1834, they purchased contiguous farms in Riley Township. After the war, William established a small farm in Section 9 of Lost Creek Township, where he resided in 1892 with his son George.

Born Aug. 27, 1815, in Butler County, Ohio, William Wright Bradbury lived in Ohio and Michigan before moving to Riley Township in 1846. Bradbury outlived four wives. Retired from farming in 1892, he operated a fruit stand at Fifth and Wabash.

William LATTA was born in Owen County, Ind., on Oct. 10, 1815. Five years later, he came to Harrison Township with his widowed mother. Later, he located in Section 3 of Riley Township and, over the years, expanded his farming interests.

A native of Martin County, Ind., William Perry Witcher was born Nov. 16, 1815. As an infant, he moved with his parents to Clark County, Ill.

Though he lived in the Wabash Valley for the rest of his life, Witcher did not become a full-time county resident until 1880, when he settled in West Terre Haute.

David Houston moved from Wayne County, Ind. -- where he was born on April 26, 1816 -- to Riley Township in 1832 and became that community's leading wagonmaker.

A native of Spencer County, Ky., where he was born July 23, 1816, Thomas B. Carr moved to Vigo County with his parents on Oct. 29, 1824. Carr lived elsewhere for several years as an adult but settled in Prairieton in 1845. He moved to Terre Haute on March 4, 1854, accepting employment as a clerk in Francis Hulman's grocery.

In later years, Carr worked for Bernard Koopman (boot and shoe business), Leopold Goodman (merchant tailor and clothier) and Max Joseph (clothier). In 1892, he was living in retirement at 406 S. Second St. with his son, Charles, a Wabash River steamboat pilot.

Col. Thompson, the man who initiated the search for Vigo County men who voted for William H. Harrison in 1836 and announced their intention to vote for his grandson 56 years later, was among the most venerated men Terre Haute has produced.

Born June 9, 1809, in Culpeper County, Va., Thompson settled in Lawrence County, Ind., in 1831, where he taught school, was admitted to the bar and was elected to the Indiana House and Senate and, then, to Congress. He came to Terre Haute in 1843.

During his long residency in Vigo County, Thompson was Circuit Court judge, provost marshal of western Indiana military district during the Civil War, secretary of Navy under President Rutherford Hayes and chairman of the American committee of the Panama Canal Co. He served in both Indiana houses and was elected to another congressional term in 1847.

During Thompson's life, he had contact with 16 presidents and wrote several books. He was president of the board of trustees at Indiana State Normal School and active on the boards at Rose Polytechnic Institute and the Rose Orphan Home.

A bust of Thompson is on the grounds of the Vigo County Courthouse.

She was born November 25, 1837 in Vigo County, Indiana<sup>41</sup>, and died February 02, 1917 in Kittitas County, Thorp, Washington<sup>41</sup>.

Notes for WILLIAM M. LOWE:

Dates are from Lowe family Bible in the possession of Shirley Mattox Churchill 2009.

The following are accounts by Shirley Churchill, daughter of Mary Alice Lowe.

At the time of William's marriage, he was age 22, and she was 19. He was a farmer and a woodsman.

They had 9 children, all born in Vigo county, Indiana. Their first son, Morrison died in 1861 at age 4; in May of 1864, just two weeks before her fourth child was born, they lost two more of their children due to scarlet fever. These two children, Miriam, age 3, and Isaac Samuel, age 2, died within a week of each other. Two weeks after their deaths, Sara Ann's baby daughter, Laura was born. This baby died within a month. Sarah came close to losing her sanity. Mary Alice was the first born of their "second" family, followed by four sons, Frederick, Ernest, Ennis, and Horace.

Mary Alice Lowe, married Reason Turner Mattox in November 1883. The couple left Indiana in 1898 to go to Washington state. In 1900, William and Sarah followed them to Washington. They settled in Thorp where they lived two houses away for Mary Alice and Reason Mattox. They were both highly respected in the community and were kind and loving people and staunch members of the Thorp Christian Church. Sara Ann "ruled the roost", according to family members, and William was very easy going and seldom crossed his wife.

Apparently one of Sarah Ann's eccentricities was smoking a pipe and that she enjoyed a glass of sherry wine before retiring.

William and Sarah celebrated 60 years of marriage shortly before her death in 1917 at age 80, dying of a heart attack while hanging clothes on the line. William died two years later at the age of 84.

Obituary

William Lowe passed away Sunday morning at his home in Thorp at the age of 84 years. The funeral will take place on Tuesday. The funeral will take place on Tuesday. Mr. Lowe was born in Vigo, Indiana, in 1835 and has lived in Thorp for the past 19 years, his wife passing away just two years ago. He was a life long member of the Christian Church. He leaves one daughter, Mrs. R. T. Mattox of Thorp, and four sons, Horace Lowe of Thorp and Fred L. Lowe of Toppenish, and two sons in the east. The funeral services will take place on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock at the Thorp Christian Church, the Rev. F. E. Billington will have charge of the services. Interment will be made in the Thorp Cemetery.

The M. in William's name was probably Morrison.

It is thought that THOMAS LOWE's children, John W. (wife Ellen Jane), Ezra (wife Sarah), William (wife Lavinia), and Samuel (wife Susan), moved to Indiana

In 1850 Census of Vigo County on November 9, 1850, the following was found:

WILLIAM Lowe, age 34, occ. farmer, value of property $500, born in Kentucky.

LAVINA, age 31, born in Indiana

SARAH, age 1, born in Indiana

This is supposedly EZRA's brother.

In the 1840 Indiana Census, only one LOWE is found in Vigo County, that being E. M. LOWE in Riley Township. Probably Ezra Morrison Lowe. Two male children under age 5, one between 5 and 10, male adult between 30-40 years of age. One female between 20 and 30. The children would match the ages of Ezra's children in the 1850 census. There were no LOWs in Vigo County in 1840. It would appear that SAMUEL LOWE, ANDREW LOW, and WILLIAM LOWE came to Vigo County, Indiana, between the 1840 and 1850 census, probably from Kentucky.

Notes for MARY ALICE LOWE:

The following is recounted by Shirley Mattox Churchill, granddaughter of Mary Alice Lowe Mattox, 2009.

Mary Alice married Reason Turner Mattox on November 25, 1883 in Vigo County, IN.

Reason and Alice lived the first fifteen years of their married life in Vigo County, close to her parents William and Sarah Dean Lowe. They had 5 children, all born in Vigo County. Sometime around 1895, both families decided to leave Indiana. William and his son, Frederick Lowe, went to Florida to explore the possibility of moving there. However, they abandoned that idea. Reason's brothers, William Miles Mattox and Samuel Grafton Mattox had already moved to Washington state in 1890. They wrote letters back to the family encouraging them to move to Washington. So it was, that they decided to move to Washington.

Reason's daughter, Cordia (Callie Cordelia), remembered the trip in great detail. She was 12 years old at the time. It was in November of 1898 that Alice, Reason and their children left by train for the great northwest. (Washington was admitted to the union on November 11, 1889.) Reason was 38 and Alice 33. It was mutually decided that Reason would bring his family first and William and Sarah would come later. They had all their personal belongings shipped ahead of them; this included large quantities of canned fruit. Aunt Cordia described the excitement as they started out on their journey. Most of all they were terribly afraid of Indians. However, their fears were needless, for all danger of Indian attacks was over. She told of the great beauty of the scenery, the rolling plains, the snow-covered mountains and the beauty of Washington state. They made the trip in 5 days. Aunt Cordia said that she suffered the entire trip of motion sickness and was greatly relieved when they reached their destination.

They were met by Reason's brothers in Ellensburg. The family lived with his brother, William, for about a month. Finally, Reason found a place for them to settle. He purchased a small farm, about 1 1/2 acres in the town of Thorp. He paid $300 for the property, which was located directly across the street from the school. Reason worked awhile for the railroad, and then as a farmer, and finally as a janitor of the school for the last six years of his life.

Upon arriving in Thorp, Reason and Alice Joined the Thorp Christian Church and were members the rest of their lives.

Her parents, William and Sarah in the spring of 1900 and lived just a few houses from them.

In January 1923, Reason developed pneumonia. After a brief illness, he died on February 1, 1923 at his home, at age 62. After his death Alice remained in her home. Her brother, Horace, came to live with her to help with the chores. In April 1940, she went to Cle Elum to visit her sister Lula. She became ill and died peacefully in her sleep. She was 74 years old.

Notes for LEWIS ENNIS (N.S.) LOWE:

Note from Shirley Churchill June 2009, (granddaughter of Mary Alice Lowe, sister of NS)

"I have been researching all branches of my family for over 40 years. It has been an exhaustive process. This computer age has opened up a whole new source of information. I now know that our William Combs was the son of Byram and Miriam (Willis) Combs. Byram Combs was son of John and Ann (Hardin) Combs. He was the youngest of the famous 8 sons. Byram was a very difficult person to track down. He was constantly on the move. I believe now that he married Miriam Willis, daughter of (?) Willis that married Miriam Lewis, daughter of Charles Lewis. You will notice that our Frederick Lowe's middle name was Charles. William and Sarah (Dean) Lowe's first daughter was named Miriam. Your Ennis was named Lewis Ennis Lowe.

The Ennis name comes through the Oliver family. One of Sarah's grandparents was Samuel Ennis and Alice Marshall. I also think that Elijah Dean's father was Robert Dean who married Laura Oliver. She was the daughter of Abner Dean and Laura Pleasant (daughter of Samuel Pleasant. I have always felt that there was a connection between the Oliver and Dean families. I am sure I am confusing you. I will try to gather up my information in a presentable fashion for you. It was great to have someone to pass on some of my hard earned information."

Records vary on Ennis' name. Some of the problem is the legibility of census records. His name is shown as "U.S.", "L. E.", "Louis E." and "N.S." The family recall him being called "NS" At Highland Lawn Cemetery, the original records show that N.S. bought 6 grave lots. His name was listed as follows: "Ennis (N.S.) Lowe. Others buried there are Ronald Leroy Muston, infant, 2 years. 7-9-1938 (assumed to be brother of Larry Muston); Rose Marie Riggs (unknown who this is); Edith Marie Mankin, 8-30-38 -- 4-21-39. His wife, Julia is buried there also, as are sons Loral J. Lowe (1898-1917) and Reson T. (1902-1926).

Was living with son Lawrence in Terre Haute when he died.

N.S. was a coal miner.

There was an E. M. Lowe in Riley Twp., Vigo Co. in the 1840 census. Two male children under age 5, one between 5 and 10, male adult between 30-40 years of age. One female between 20 and 30. Could this be N.S. grandfather?

In 1850 census there is a William Lowe in Riley Twp., Vigo County, age 34, farmer, born in Indiana. Lavina, age 31, born in Indiana; Sarah, age 1. Neither parent could read or write. This would probably be Ezra Lowe's brother. The ages would match.

Obituary: N.S. Lowe, 82 years old, R. R. 5, died early Monday morning (October 13, 1952) at the residence of a son, Lawrence, 838 N. 8th Street (Terre Haute). He is survived by 2 other sons, Horace of Burnett and Herbert of Terre Haute, 4 daughters: Goldie McCann, R. R. 5, Ruth Foxworthy, R. R. 5, and Euvana Muston, Terre Haute., one brother, Ernest, Terre Haute, 23 grandchildren, 48 great-great grandchildren. He was a member of the Odd Fellows. He was taken to Gillis Mortuary, then to the home of Goldie McCann for viewing. Services at Chamberlain Chapel in East Glenn. Burial at Highland Lawn Cemetery (October 15, 1952).

Notes for OVA ALICE LOWE:

In a Kittitas County, WA publication HOMETOWN HERITAGE, A Remembered History of 1910, Ova's photo and an interview is published as follows:

"Did my grandmother make her own soap? My, yes! She had a big kettle she used to put the grease into--any kind of grease, mostly hog fat, but beef cooking grease was all right--and she'd get the grease boiling., then put in a can of lye. Some people made their own lye by dripping water through ashes, but a can cost about 10 cents.

"When the lye dissolved in the hot fat, you had soap and the longer you cooked the soap, the harder it would set up. Grandmother poured it into molds--a pail or wooden box--and cut it into pieces, oblong blocks or bars as it cooled. "If she made bathroom soap, she added a whitener to take away the dirty, gray color, and sometimes she added perfume, too. You've heard of soft soaping people? Well, if you didn't cook the soap very long, you got the most wonderful, smooth liquid--soft soap--which felt so good and was beautiful to do laundry with."

Her "grandmother" could have been Sarah Dean or Sarah Oliver. The date of the interview is not given, but Ova looks like she is in her 70s.

In her son's obituary, it states "His parents were ranchers and had large real estate holdings, only to lose them in the Great Depression."

Notes for JOHN A. MCKINSTRY:

Obituary Daily Record October 18, 2002, Pasco, Washington

John A. McKinstry, Sr., 83, died Oct. 12, 2002, in Pasco.

John was born and baptized in the Kittitas Valley. His parents were ranchers and had large real estate holdings, only to lose them in the Great Depression. In spite of teachers constantly trying to change his left hand to right hand, he was a standout in football, basketball and boxing. After high school graduation, he started a trucking business that was interrupted by World War II. He served as a Marine in the Pacific and was involved in the battles of Saipan, Iwo Jima and others. Ironically, his grandfather was a West Point graduate and army general. John was wounded during the war and sent home to recover. During this time, he married his lifelong spouse, Helen Michaels, in Cle Elum. Soon after, he returned to the Marines and the occupation of Japan. After the war, he chose to pass up college and return to the trucking industry. He invested 40 years and drove more than a million miles accident free. He received a special award for this feat that he held in high regard.

John was most proud of his family and friendships he made during his lifetime. He admired and respected people who were skillful at their work. Fast cars, gardening and raising beef cattle were his hobbies. He had a no-nonsense, straight-forward personality and had little tolerance toward laziness, poor manners or intimidation by others.

John is survived by daughter, Judy (Tom) Moore; son, John L. (Sheri) McKinstry; grandchildren, Blake (Kandy) Yates, Stacey (Dave) Park, Whitney (Spencer) Osborn, Matt McKinstry and Corporal John J. (Fabiola) McKinstry USMC; great-grandchildren, Hope and Summer Yates, Rowdy Yates and Hank Park and Hayes and Ivy Osborn; sister-in-law, Janis Hinkle; and five nieces. John was preceded in death by his wife, Helen in 1984. his parents, John and Ova McKinstry; his brother, James McKinstry; and special nieces, Garna Flowers and Donna Tharp. Family graveside services will be held at 1 p.m., October 17 at East Prosser Cemetery. Arrangements are being handled by Bruce Lee Memorial Chapel, 2804 West Lewis, Pasco.

Eulogy for Kenneth Raymond Lowe

By Lori Winston

December 1, 2001

My grandpa, Kenneth Raymond Lowe, was born on Christmas Day in 1912 shortly after his family moved to Thorpe, Washington. Our family believes that he was born on an Indian reservation because his maternal grandmother was a Blackfoot Indian. He was one of the five children born to Lawrence O. Lowe and Dorothy Mott Lowe. His two brothers were Oakley and Warren, and his two sisters were Hazel and Freida. All have left this earth and are probably having a huge family reunion as we who are left behind grieve the loss of our family patriarch.

When Kenneth was two years old, the Lowe family returned to Indiana and settled in Vigo County. His father and grandfather worked in the coalmines and from what he's told us, it was a tough way of life. The family was poor, undereducated, and never managed to save enough money to own a home. My grandpa went to Glenn High School and played basketball. This was where he got his nickname "Cob" because he made his own pipe from a corncob and smoked it at school. He attended Glenn High until his junior year when he had to drop out because the family couldn't afford the textbooks. It is my understanding that at that time my grandfather vowed three things: 1) he'd never work in the coal mines, 2) he'd one day own his own home, and 3) his kids would have a better life than he did. Needless to say, he worked hard and fulfilled all three vows during his lifetime.

He started working at the age of 16 at the Home Packing Tomato Factory and later worked a maintenance job at Quaker Maid, where he remained for 43 years. He met Miss Ruth Bryan when he was 18 and after a brief courtship, they were married in 1931. They worked hard and saved enough money to buy the farm in Brazil, where they raised their four children. First came Jim, then Pat, who was sort of feisty, so they waited a few years to have their third child, Mary Helen. They felt their family was complete, when along came their surprise baby, my father, Gene, whom they named Kenneth Eugene Lowe.

The family lived and worked on that farm for fifty years until Ruth sold it in 1995. So many memories were made in that small farmhouse that had no indoor plumbing, central heating and only one bedroom for four children. Together they dug the basement, installed plumbing, built chicken coops, put up fences, planted apple trees, and built a barn that still stands today. Even in the midst of the Great Depression, they still had a good life. It was in this farmhouse nearly forty years ago that Ruth told Mary Helen to paint the bathroom since while her dad and Gene were out in the field working. She painted it all right! When her father came in to wash up for supper, they all heard swearing and looked up from the table to see Dad waddling to the table. It seems Mary Helen had painted the toilet seat, too! And there was the time when Pat stole her dad's truck and put it in a ditch late one night, then tried to change the setting on the odometer.

Those days were full of hard work, but the life lessons that were learned were truly valuable. It was here that Kenneth taught his family that they must work hard in order to get ahead. They raised chickens and cows. Gene tells his kids and grandkids of how during the summer, they would kill as many as 50 chickens at one time. He tells us about headless chickens scrambling about the barnyard, and how they had to boil the chickens so they could pluck the feathers. He swears that to this day, he can't stand the smell of wet feathers. Jim remembers how they used castrate their own hogs and have Rocky Mountain oysters for dinner. And the time when they butchered a calf in the barn and his dad sliced open a tendon in his arm with a butcher knife. The story probably grows each time it's told, but the kids say that Ruth rushed Cob to the hospital to have his arm fixed up, and Jim and Gene stayed behind to finish the calf. Well, no sooner, had they started, and Jim hacked open his hand with a meat cleaver. He ran inside and wrapped it up and Mary Helen jumped in the truck to take him to the hospital. The plot to the story gets intense when the tire blew out on the way, and Jim had to change it with one-handedly. When they arrived at the hospital and told the nurse his name, she said, "That's odd. We just saw a Mr. Lowe who wounded himself butchering a calf!" Eventually, Jim called the neighbor, Tommy Farris, who came over and he and Gene carefully finished the job.

Time moved on and the kids grew up and Ruth and Kenneth parted ways. He made some mistakes, as most of us do, and strayed from the family for too many years. Then one day, at Quaker Maid, he met a pretty young thing named Rosemary Francis, who changed all that. This woman I now call Grandma, once told me that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, and that's how she caught and tamed my grandpa. For nearly 30 years they have lived in that house at 3501 Stacey Ave. And during this last phase in his life, Kenneth enjoyed fishing, hunting, gardening, and woodworking.

He and Jim spent countless days on the lakes, ponds, and strip pits reeling in the bass, bluegill, and catfish. They'd come home and sit at the picnic table and clean them and freeze as many as 100 fish at a time. Penny told me about the times when Grandpa Lowe would pick her up and they would fish all morning, and afterwards he'd stop at the Legion for a cold one and he'd sit her up on the bar. And it was Avis who told us about a day 20 years ago when Jim & his dad went fishing and got the brilliant idea to put the lawn chairs in the boat. After a few hours and probably a few beers, they managed to tip the boat over and lost the chairs, bait, poles, and fish. She still chuckles when she tells how Cob hired two scuba divers to retrieve their gear.

He loved to hunt, too. Gene told us about the time when his dad and Harry Knight took him coon hunting one night. The dogs tracked a coon through the woods and the trio followed. When they got close, Cob climbed a fence, pulled out his rifle, and shined his flashlight on the source of all that yapping just as a huge old skunk sprayed him from head to toe. He rode home that day in the back of the pickup and had to bathe in tomato juice. And if you knew Cobb well, you knew that he hunted, cooked, and ate almost every critter in these parts. He'd trap, hunt, catch and kill squirrels, rabbits, frogs, turtles, ducks, muskrat, and even possum. And no one who went to Kenneth & Rosemary's wedding will ever forget how he served everyone BBQ coon. Gene says that we should have seen the look on Mary Helen's face when he told her she was eating barbecued raccoon.

I remember that my grandpa always had the biggest garden in the north end of Terre Haute. He labored many days planting and growing the best tomatoes, beans, corn, squash, and later cherry, apple, and peach trees. Then he'd force Rosemary to slave for days in the kitchen putting it up for the winter. But what a treat for us grandkids to go over in the middle of winter and eat grandpa's fried catfish, potatoes and onions, and the most wonderful home-grown green beans and sweet corn. I loved him for that. He also was a skilled woodworker. My daughter has a beautiful bench that has her name carved in it. My parents still have the potato bin he made at Christmas time nearly 15 years ago. I'm sure some of you still own one of these pieces. Treasure them, and when you pass them on to your kids or grandkids, tell them about their great-grandpa Cob.

All of these things we will remember and cherish. Grandpa lived a long life. He only missed his 89th birthday by a month. During his lifetime, the U.S. was involved in seven wars, sixteen presidents were elected.

There was Prohibition, the Great Depression, Women's Suffrage, and the Civil Rights Movement. He watched as Americans put a man on the moon and invented things that have changed our lives: the television, computers, cell phones, and cure for diseases such as smallpox, influenza, and diphtheria. It really is amazing that a human could really live for nearly a century.

Kenneth Raymond Lowe witnessed many events in his lifetime and learned a lot of lessons along the way. He always seemed to be a man of few words, so I always listened carefully when he did speak. I can't say that we were especially close, but I know that I am his descendent and share the same blood as he. My dad always told us that the Lowe blood was special. For me, being a Lowe means being strong, independent, determined, and bold. Oh yeah, don't forget, good looking! But it also means appreciating the simple things that God has provided us, and respecting the land and nature because our existence depends on the land.

As his granddaughter, I hope I honor his memory today expressing the things that he had trouble saying himself. I think that if he could, Grandpa Lowe would tell us to grieve today, and watch his body become one with the earth. But when tomorrow comes, we must get up and face each new day and carry on where he left off. If he could, I'm sure he'd tell us he's happy, and peaceful, and free from the pain of his cancer and the disabilities of old age. I'm sure that he'd say that he made the best decision of his life in 1984 when he accepted Jesus Christ as his Savior, and he'd encourage us to do the same so that we can be together again when the time comes. He'd tell us not to bicker and fight because these things won't matter when we get to where he is. I also know that he would thank Avis, Bonnie, and Jim for caring so mercifully for him during those last days when his family couldn't. And I think he would ask us to look after his wife, Rosemary, and comfort her and reassure her that, as her poem says, he'll never be too far away, and they'll be together as soon as her purpose in this life has been fulfilled.

And finally, I think the best way to honor him is to keep in touch with each other and make a better effort stay close to each other and not forget the things that he has taught us. He'd want us to call each other on our birthdays, plan and attend big family reunions in the summertime, send each other cards and letters and visit at Christmas time. I think he would also want us to teach the little ones what he taught us: how to fish, hunt, and garden. He'd like us to plant a fruit tree in the yard, and when it bears fruit, we must tell the little ones about their Great- Grandpa Lowe.

Notes for RUTH LUCILLE BRYAN:

Ruth graduated from Wiley H. S. in Terre Haute. She worked as a housewife and later as a farm wife when they moved to a farm in 1941. The family did not get electricity in the country until about 1945 and did not have an indoor bathroom until about 1947. After her divorce from Kenneth, she worked at various jobs...as a cashier in the cafeteria at Rose Hulman Institute of Technology, a cashier at Columbia records, and as a seamstress in a coat-making factory. She stopped working shortly after her marriage to W. J. Wells in 1966. After his retirement, she enjoyed their winters in Cortez, Florida. They enjoyed dancing and went with friends to Shrine functions. After being widowed, Ruth still enjoyed going to Florida. She spent the summers in a small home near her son, Gene and his granddaughter, Lori.

In the last year of her life, she had repeated lung infections and pneumonia, possibly fibrosis of the lung, although she had never smoked or worked in hazardous areas. Too ill to return to Terre Haute in the summer of 1999, she lived with daughter Pat in Bradenton until her death in June.

Notes for VIRGINIA IRENE LOWE:

Died in house explosion and fire along with three children...Peggy, Ronnie, Gary. Article in Crown Point newspaper and Gary Post Tribune.

Account by nephew John Howard Jenkins:

"I remember the day it happened. To begin with, Aunt Jenny remarried Earl ( Mo ) Tigie after Aunt Jenny was divorced from Albert Allen Gorrell Sr.

She meet Mo and was going with him for while before they was married and he had just built a new house that was not compelted on the inside, but there were one or two rooms not done . They were living in it at the time. There was a propone gas leak, and when the water heater came on, the house blew up, blowing it everywhere . From what Mo said he didn't know that there was a small leak. He was the only one that lived from it.

Mom & Dad (Madelyn and Rudolph Jenkins) got a call from Albert Allen Gorrell, Jr. telling them that something happened to his Mother and the kids. On the way to their house, it came over the radio. From that point, everybody was hurt deeply from what we heard on the radio. When we got on US 30 and the road to turn on, there were cars for miles around the road. It seemed like hours before we got there. There was a county policeman turning tariffic around and Dad told them who we were. He called other cops there to see if it was okay for us to come up. They ask Albert Allen Gorrell, Jr. if he knew who we were and got the okay to go ahead . I'm going to have to stop here before I break down at this point. As they say pictures bring back memory's and memory's brings back tears."
